There are certain shortages the public can do much about. One that the average person can effect is the Holiday blood shortage.

"Blood is something vital that we always run low on at this time of year," said John J. Malone, chairman of the Carbondale-Forest City American Red Cross.

"If everyone donates blood and brings along a friend or relative to donate also, we'll have a much better supply for the community."

"We're holding a Holiday bloodmobile at the Red Cross Family Center on Dec. 4 from 11 a.m. to 5:45 p.m. Our goal is to collect 120 pints of volunteer donated blood."

"It's really important that we reach the goal, too, because the supply does drop during the holidays."

Malone went on to explain that many people have to get together to donate blood.

"There is no substitute for blood."

There are 45 hospitals in the Northeastern area. To keep them supplied with blood, the Red Cross must collect about 340 pints every day.

"We encourage year-round blood donation," said Malone.

"The need for blood is always there. St. Joseph's and Carbondale General are among those we supply."

In Pennsylvania, all healthy persons aged 17-65 who weigh at least 110 pounds may donate blood. The donation process takes less than 10 minutes.

The rest of the time is used registering, a brief health history, and test and refreshment period.

It is safe to donate blood every two months.
